March 2007

In memory of Jan Miller, Southland FACS teacher

Janice Kaye Miller, age 47, of LeRoy, Minnesota, died Saturday, February 10, 2007, at her home, following a courageous battle with a brain tumor the past 1-1/2 years.

She was born April 25, 1959, in Rochester, Minnesota, and grew up and lived most of her life in LeRoy. She graduated from LeRoy-Ostrander High School in 1977. After graduation she attended the University of Wisconsin-Stout, where she received her bachelor's degree in 1981.

Jan Miller
1959-2007

On June 13, 1981, she was united in marriage to Rick Miller at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in LeRoy, and together they made their home in LeRoy. Janice continued her education through the University of Minnesota, receiving her master's degree in education in 1992. She was a family and consumer science teacher for the Southland School District in Adams, Minnesota, since 1983. She served as the FCCLA Advisor, and had students involved in several national competitions. She enjoyed traveling, reading, and was very creative in crafts and sewing.

Survivors include her husband, Rick, of LeRoy; two sons, Tony, of Roseville, Minnesota, and Nate, of LaCrosse, Wisconsin; her mother, Thelma Tangen, of LeRoy; two sisters, Marcia (Robert) Myli, of Cresco, Iowa, and Mary (Peter) Slavin of Rochester; brother, James Tangen, of Mabel, Minnesota.

She was preceded in death by her father, Gordon Tangen.

Funeral Mass was held at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, February 14, 2007, at St Patrick's Catholic Church in LeRoy, with the Rev. John Traufler officiating. Burial was in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Hindt Funeral Home in LeRoy was in charge of arrangements.

Read Across America to be celebrated on March 2nd

Motivating children to read is an important factor in student achievement and creating lifelong successful readers. Research has shown that children who are motivated and spend more time reading do better in school.

NEA's Read Across America is a National Education Association and the California Teachers Association reading motivation and awareness program that calls for every child to celebrate reading on March 2, Dr. Seuss's birthday. In cities and towns across the nation, teachers teenagers, librarians, policicians, actors, athletes, parents, grandparents, and others develop NEA's Read Across America activities to bring reading excitement to children of all ages. The 2007 Read Across America theme is "Get Jazzed About Books."

Learning to read is one of the most important things a child will ever learn to do. Celebrating reading through different events is a fun way to introduce children to the world of books, words and reading. Mastering basic reading skills helps motivate children to learn. The more children read, the better they read. And the more they read outside of school, the better they do in school. Continued exposure to reading and vocabulary encourages learning and the expansion of new ideas.

Fun, games and activities are planned for the day at Southland Elementary School.

Early Childhood/Family Education
312 West Main Street, Adams MN 55909
Email address: eccenter@isd500.k12.mn.us

Early Childhood Family Education is a program that celebrates the importance of families in the development of children from birth to kindergarten enrollment. Classes provide opportunities for parents and children to grow and learn together in a supportive atmosphere.

ECFE is a special place where parents and children can enjoy the magic of childhood together.

ECFE is a place where parents can discuss parenting concerns and can learn from other parents.

The Goals of Early Childhood Family Education Are:

- To support parents in their child raising efforts;
- To offer information about child development and alternative parenting techniques;
- To help parents and their children communicate better;
- To give children opportunities to discover and learn;
- To promote positive parental attitudes; and
- To provide information on community resources available to parents and children.

A Typical ECFE Parent & Child Class

First…Parent and child spend a special time together exploring a room filled with learning activities appropriate to the age of the child. These activities are designed to enhance the child's overall growth and will give parents ideas for activities to do at home.

Then…Parents will have time with other parents and a parent facilitator to discuss those issues relevant to the age of their child such as temperament, guidance, discipline, self-esteem, and school readiness.

And…Children will remain in the classroom with the early childhood teacher and have an opportunity to interact with the other children, participate in games, musical activities, a circle time, large muscle play and stories.

Southland Early Childhood Center Receives Computer

The Southland Early Childhood was awarded a grant for a $2,500 computer system for young learners. The Southern Minnesota Initiative Foundation awarded the Young Explorer Learning Center to 30 different groups. The initiative is a partnership between the foundation and the IBM KidSmart Early Learning Program to promote technology and science to young kids.

Nancy Dvergsten and Linda Krull attended the SMIF celebration and training on Jan. 20, in Owatonna when they picked the computer up. The computer station is a child and parent friendly by combing "durable", creative design, leading-edge technology and award-winning software. It's for children ages 3 to 7 and allows them to explore at their own pace and enhance their learning via technology.

Students using the new computer

The computer came with five different programs installed to choose from, each having 5 to 7 different games teaching a variety of concepts. Programs included are Sammy's Science House, Millie's Math House, Bailey's Book House, Thinkin' Things, and Trudy's Time and Place House.

The computer has been a hit with the students as they take turns using the computer while having fun. The Early Childhood Center has five other computers for use by the children but this attractive new computer where several can sit and share is definitely first choice!

The Essential Role of Parents in Special Education

In most sports, the team consists of a certain number of individuals. When one of those individuals is missing, the team plays short and is not likely to be as effective in winning the game. Likewise, the special education team needs parents to participate fully if educational planning for their child with a disability is going to be effective and successful. Research shows that when parents are involved, children do better.

Participating on the special education team can be a challenge for parents. Most of us parents didn't choose to raise a child with a disability and may not feel prepared to represent our children. On the other hand, the school professionals did choose to do this work and have received training to do so. But our parent role is equally important to the professional's role. No one -- not the teachers and not the parents -- can do this job effectively and successfully alone.

Those who crafted the first special education laws in the 1970s realized from the very beginning that parents, and what they know about their children, are absolutely essential to the special education process. Because of this, parents are required members of the Individualized Education Program (IEP) decision-making team. Parents are the only team members who are required to give or refuse written agreement with an IEP.

Long after the last teacher has disappeared from your child's life, you will be there to support and encourage your child. Will he or she be prepared for the future? You can make the difference now by sharing what you know about your child's strengths and needs, asking questions, helping to develop your child's educational program, and working to resolve disagreements.

-Submitted by Carolyn Anderson, PACER Parent Advocate and parent of 2 young adults with disabilities

This article is the first in a series sponsored under a grant from the Minnesota Department of Education. For more information, contact Carolyn Anderson at PACER Center, 800-537-2237 or Special Education Director Gordon Kuehne at 500-370-1407 or 507-438-2647.

Parents can prepare for special education meetings

If you are a parent of a child with disabilities, the following tips can help you prepare for special education planning meetings.

1. Remember that special education decisions are based on data rather than personal opinion. School records - including your child's three-year evaluation report, current Individualized Education Program (IEP), discipline reports, progress reports, and report cards - provide important information that is used when making decisions for your child. Be sure you have copies of these records. At a minimum, read the IEP and evaluation report before your child's annual IEP meeting.

2. Be sure to review the meeting notice. Who is invited? What is the purpose of the meeting? Will your child attend all or part of the meeting? Does your child need any preparation in order to participate?

3. Make a list of your priorities and concerns before the meeting. You may want to share your list with your child's IEP case manager and ask that your items be included on the agenda.

4. If you plan to discuss a problem at the IEP meeting, define the issue clearly in your own mind. Bring ideas for solutions and also be willing to listen to the ideas of others. Avoid blame and focus on ways to solve the problem.

5. Finally, keep in mind that teamwork creates better outcomes for children. You are the expert on your child, and the school has expertise in education. Together, you can help your child succeed in school.

Minnesota Student Survey

The Minnesota Student Survey (MSS) provides students, parents and their communities a dynamic vehicle for ongoing communication about issues vital to the health, safety and academic success of youth.

The seventh administration of the Minnesota Student Survey will happen in Spring 2007. The Minnesota Student Survey (MSS) survey was developed as a way to monitor priority risk and protective behaviors among students. The survey is voluntary, confidential and anonymous on the part of students and asks questions about tobacco, alcohol and other drug use and attitudes, as well as sexual behaviors, dietary behaviors, physical activity, and unintentional injuries and violence.

Students in Grades 6, 9 and 12 will take the Minnesota Student Survey on March 14, 2007.

A note to parents: To have your son or daugher opt out of the Minnesota Student Survey, look for a letter and opt out form that will come home with your student at the end of February.

9th grade physical science students inform the public about Radon poisoning

January was Radon Awareness Month. To correlate with that, the 9th grade Physical Science students studied Nuclear Chemistry and applied the concept of radioactivity to the world around us.

In doing so, they learned about the relevancy of nuclear decay to their lives right here in southern Minnesota through a project on Radon poisoning.

To help inform the general public about Radon poisoning, they made posters and flyers that were displayed in the hallways and distributed to local businesses.

This is an example of one of the flyers made by Jacob Hanson, Adam Hendrikson, and Micheal Sorenson.

I WANT YOU

TO BE SAFE FROM RADON!!!

A Project by 9th grade Physical Science Class

Radon radiation is the second main cause of Lung Cancer.

Radon is a radioactive element.

It comes from the earth's crust and it may be in your home.

You could be at risk so get your home tested for Radon.

Southland Elementary PTO hosts family bingo night

On February 9, Southland Elementary PTO hosted a family game night, playing bingo.

Over 100 people ventured out in the cold, bringing the admission price of one regular sized candy bar.

Families and friends gathered around tables and played for an hour and a half, sharing laughter, fun and conversation.

The prizes awarded were various piles of assorted candy bars.

Hot dogs, popcorn, beverages and candy were available at the concession stand for those who couldn't wait to win!

The general consensus of the night was "It was fun!"

Above: Bingo players anxiously waiting to hear their lucky numbers called.

Right: 1st grader Briana Arthaud and her mom were the big winners at bingo, winning 4 times throughout the night!

Musical activities abound at Southland Elementary

5th Grade Instrument Project

This month the 5th graders were assigned a project. The project was to build an instrument. We all built different kinds of instruments like chimes, drums, guitars, and many more. At the end of the month, we had to play our instruments. All of them sounded really good.

By Mackenzie Mork

Fifth grade students invent musical instruments as they learn about instruments of the orchestra.

John Ashton, Luthier (Lute Maker) Visits Southland Elementary

The Southland Elementary 5th grade music class got a visit from Mr. John Ashton who is a luthier, or guitar maker. His son, John Ashton is a student in 5th grade at Southland.

"When John's dad came, it was awesome!" said Luke Stephens. He brought some tools and pieces of wood with him. He had a different kind of wood for every part. Brady Reuter said it was cool how he had one piece of wood and formed it into the body or the neck or the head. He said all the 5th graders agree that he is awesome at making and playing guitars.

Sarah Hinderaker mentioned the special sea shells that are used for decoration around the outside and that some parts are made of cow bone.

Mr. Ashton might spend thousands of dollars on one log of rare wood. Then he will cut the wood into different parts of a guitar. Then he puts it all together and sells it, said Dylan Henaman.

Madison Hanna remarked, "It was great because we were in the process of making an instrument. So that was an interesting time for us to learn about guitars."

Mr. Ashton demonstrates the resonant sound of a thin piece of mahogany used for the back of a guitar.

Valentine's Day and Presidents' Day Concert

Second and fourth grade students presented a musical program for parents, friends and fellow students on February 16 at Southland Elementary.

Second graders made up special verses to sing about school friends for the song "Special Valentine." They played rhythm instruments and sang songs about Valentine's Day.

Fourth graders sang about Presidents' Day, including a rap they wrote with facts about many presidents that they researched in Mrs. Lamp's writing class. They then set the verses to rhythm in music.

Fourth graders were also ready to play their first recorder song, "Jitterbag."

Laura Freund is the elementary music specialist.

Brady Kiefer, Heather Harvey, Hanna Mueller and Jeremy Kiefer play instruments at their February concert.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at Southland on Thursday, March 8, 2007, in the big gym.
Hours for students are from 1:00 - 3:00 PM.
Hours for the public are from 3:00 - 6:00 PM.
